

GRAD 7200

Introduction to Responsible and Ethical Conduct of Research

Auburn University Office of Research Compliance and Graduate School

Summer 2024

GRAD 7200.D01 | CRN 13778

Tuesdays, 1:00 – 2:15 pm, Zoom

Open to All Graduate Students

Carey, Andrzejewski Ph.D.

Emily R. and Gerald S. Leischuck Endowed Professor,
College of Education

Office of Research Compliance Education Consultant

IRB member and expedited reviewer

CCTS-certified research mentor

This course prepares graduate students to navigate ethical challenges likely to emerge when conducting research, including matters related to human and animal subjects, data management, peer review, and authorship. The course also examines fundamentals of the broader research environment, including collaboration, mentorship, regulations, and responding to suspected wrongdoing.

For more information, contact Carey Andrzejewski, dr.a@auburn.edu or cea0011@auburn.edu