Summer Enrichment Experience

The Summer Enrichment Experience (SEE) is an intensive, four-week summer program for incoming Auburn University freshmen. The program will be staffed by mathematics and English faculty, graduate teaching assistants, counselors, and academic advisors.

The aim of the program is to:
• increase students’ mathematics and English skills
• expose students to the eight participating schools and colleges
• develop students’ study and time management skills
• introduce the students to a network of faculty, staff, and fellow minority students

The Program:
Students take two classes designed to prepare them for courses in freshmen calculus and English. Each course has a parallel workshop supplementing the classroom instruction. The classroom teaching is conducted by fulltime faculty members, and the workshops are supervised by graduate students. Through these courses and workshops, students will have an opportunity to improve their skills and gain knowledge for freshmen courses in the fall. Students will not receive university credit for these courses. However, each student will receive a written evaluation of his or her performance from the instructors. This information will be used to help students determine which courses they should take in the fall. The classroom supplies and room and board expenses for each student will be provided. In addition, students will be loaned the course textbooks.

Activities:
Led by the Office of Diversity and Multicultural Affairs, students will be taught study and time management skills. They will attend seminars and discussions on topics such as career options and choosing their academic programs at Auburn University. Students will visit a variety of local businesses and industries, as well as go on cultural enriching field trips. Computer use is an integral part of college life, so students will be taught how to use the university computer network for communication, course requirements, accessing the library, financial aid, etc. Weekends will be reserved for personal time, study, and group outings.
